5. Payment in China

- 1) Renminbi or Chinese Yuan (CNY) is the only legal currency used in China. Foreign currency exchange with favorable exchange rate is provided in limited venues such as airports, certain hotels, specific bank branches and ATM. It is recommended that you exchange some amount of CNY (less than 100 USD) at the airport.
- 2) International credit cards such as Visa, MasterCard, American Express and JCB are accepted in some shops, hotels and restaurants.
- 3) Due to the widespread use of digital payments (and in some cases non-acceptance of cash) in all Chinese cities, you are encouraged to have your digital wallets in AliPay or WeChat Pay set up before you arrive in China. Visa, MasterCard, American Express and JCB cards are accepted by Alipay and WeChat Pay.
- 4) We recommend you install “Alipay International” for its convenience to foreigners. You can find the guidance for opening an Alipay account at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ov_GVmnwydE
- 5) To use Alipay or WeChat Pay in China, please ensure you have activated international roaming services of your mobile in advance, otherwise you need a WIFI connection to use the digital wallet in China.

6. Local Weather

Hefei City: In June, the average daily temperature in Hefei is around 27°C, with a minimum of 23°C and a maximum of 38°C. Usually, it's the monsoon season at the end of June, which brings lots of rainfall in Hefei. It is recommended to wear lightweight and breathable clothing during the day, such as short-sleeved shirts and shorts. However, it's also essential to carry an umbrella or raincoat for sudden downpours.
